Guinness (Ireland)

THE Irish stout, features swirling clouds that tumble inside an imperial pint glass before finally settling. A distinguished smooth and light head caps this dark, velvety and bittersweet masterpiece. 4.2% ABV

Iron Horse Irish Death (WA, USA)

A dark, smooth, malt bomb of an ale. In Ellensburg, where this beer is brewed, the locals refer to it as "beer candy". Despite this beer's approachability, it packs a punch, weighing in at 7.8% ABV

~Lagers~

Harp (Ireland)

A best selling Irish lager, with its sparkling color makes it a distinctive, yet approachable import. It is the perfect mate for it's Irish counterpart, Guinness, in the form of a Black 'n' Tan. 5% ABV

Stella Artois (Belgium)

One of the top selling imports the world over, Stella Artois' earliest recorded history of existence dates back to 1336. This Belgian beer is a great representation of a table pilsner lager. 5% ABV

Sam Adams is complex and balanced with a beautiful hop aroma. This is a perfect blend of Noble hops and malted barley creating layers of complex flavors. Voted Americas Best Beer 6 weeks after it was first introduced. 4.75% ABV

~Light Ales & Specialties~

Boddingtons Pub Ale (England)

If you've ever been on a real English pub crawl, you know that England has some of the best beer in the world. If you haven't, then try a Boddington's and find out why. Boddington's is the creamiest light ale you will ever taste. 4.7% ABV

Hoegaarden White Ale (Belgium)

This brilliant white ale is brewed from a traditional recipe which dates back to 1445. The pale, cloudy appearance of this mysterious looking drink is thanks to a second fermentation. 5% ABV

Deschutes Mirror Pond Pale Ale (OR, USA)

A quintessential American pale ale with a definitive hop aroma and hop forward flavor. 5% ABV/40 IBU

Framboise Lambic (Belgium)

Fresh raspberry juice is added to spontaneously-fermented Belgium lambic, creating a masterpiece: magnificent raspberry aroma, brilliantly by lambic complexity. Elegant and sparkling. 4.2% ABV
